

Raytheon Shareholder Meeting Question
Sarah Rehberg, Program Coordinator, Free Enterprise Project
National Center for Public Policy Research, April 25, 2022

Over the last year, it was made public that Raytheon has been subjecting its employees to Critical Race Theory.¹ Training documents reveal that the company has been asking employees to “identify [their] privilege” and pushes the notion that white, straight, Christian men top the “oppression hierarchy” and must “step aside for minorities.”²

How does subjecting employees to such Critical Race Theory training, which teaches that the U.S. is systemically racist and necessarily segregates employees based on race and sex, not run afoul of federal antidiscrimination laws?

*Contact: Judy Kent at (703) 477-7476 or JKent@nationalcenter.org and David W. Almasi at (703) 568-4727 or DAlmasi@nationalcenter.org
National Center for Public Policy Research
20 F Street, NW, Suite 700, Washington, DC 20001
www.nationalcenter.org • @NationalCenter • @FreeEntProject*

¹<https://twitter.com/realchrisrufo/status/1412460830000508928?lang=en>

² <https://www.foxnews.com/media/chris-rufo-raytheon-race-training>; <https://nypost.com/2021/07/06/documents-show-defense-contractor-raytheon-uses-critical-race-theory/>